

Commissioner Mack Denies He Was 'Influenced'

By NEIL MACNEIL

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Federal Communications Commissioner Richard A. Mack today charged that his vote in a Miami television award was influenced by money and friends.

He also declared that "I certainly have no intention of resigning."

Mack testified before a House Commerce subcommittee which has heard charges that he received $2,650 from a Florida attorney, Thurman A. Whiteside, who supported the successful applicant for the TV channel.

Appearing before the subcommittee for the first time since it started delving into FCC operations, Mack declared he "was not swayed or influenced" by anybody who approached him about the Miami Channel 10 case.

Mack said that if he had felt that he was "being swayed or pressured into a vote against my convictions," he would not have voted at all in the case.

No Plan to Resign
He said he listened to all sides and voted his convictions based on "the record before us."

In the course of Wednesday's subcommittee session, a member, Rep. John B. Bennett (R-Mich.) said President Eisenhower should fire Mack. If the President does not do so, Bennett said, Congress should impeach the commissioner.

Before his appearance today a reporter asked Mack if he intended to forestall any such action and resign.

"Of course not," he said. "I certainly have no intention of resigning."

Whiteside has told the subcommittee the money he gave Mack was in the form of loans and that Mack had paid back most of it. Whiteside also testified that Mack owned a one-sixth interest in a Miami insurance agency from which the commissioner has received $13,000 in the past five years.

Fair Trade Restrictions Being Dropped

By UNITED PRESS

Sunbeam corp. announced it will drop most fair trade restrictions on its products in efforts to stay competitive with General Electric Co., which abandoned fair trade pricing on its small appliances Wednesday. Meanwhile retailers were cutting prices and price wars were developing in many states. Discount houses halted the move but small independent retailers said they would be hurt badly.

Wheeling Steel Corp. cut its common dividend 35 cents to 50 cents a share because of the low order volume of recent months. However, it predicted "some upturn" in operations in the second quarter. Colorado Fuel & Iron Corp., in efforts to conserve cash, declared a 2 per cent stock dividend instead of the usual 50-cent cash payment.

Metropolitan Life Insurance Co. tagged 1957 "the best in our overall view of any year in our history," and predicted both the life insurance industry and Metropolitan will forge ahead in 1958. Despite the recession, assets at year-end stood at $15,536,000,000, ranking the company just behind the Bell Telephone System among the world's privately owned companies.

Stocks of light oil last week fell by a record amount because of cold weather, according to the Gasoline Stocks rose to a new high, while imports of crude oil and products dropped to the lowest level in 28 months.

Osceola May Lose Shoe Factory

LITTLE ROCK (UP) — The city of Osceola may not get a new $350,000 shoe plant because the company wanting to build the plant lacks $50,000. Gov. Orval Faubus said Wednesday.

He didn't identify the manufacturer.

The company obtained $200,000 from Little Rock investors and another $100,000 from Osceola sources, but needs $50,000 more, the governor said. Frank Storey, member of the state fiscal control board, told the governor the agency can't put up the $100,000 because it must have the first mortgage and the Little Rock investors have that.

Judge Refuses to Consolidate Racial Cases

By LLOYD HOLBECK

United Press Staff Correspondent
LITTLE ROCK (UP) — A three-judge federal district court today refused to consolidate two cases, contesting the legality of the State Sovereignty Commission authorized by the 1957 General Assembly.

Judge John E. Miller of Fort Smith, speaking for the panel, said the two cases were "too different" to be tied together.

One was an attempt by the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People to have the Sovereignty Commission declared unconstitutional. The other was a suit by ten Negro ministers challenging one of the 1957 acts which gave the commission its powers.

"We reached the conclusion that the mechanics of the cases absolutely prevent this court to consolidate the two," Miller said.

Other Judges
Sitting with him were Judge Joseph W. Woodruff of Omaha, Neb., a member of the Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals at St. Louis; and Federal District Judge Roy W. Harper of St. Louis, serving temporarily in Little Rock.

Judge Miller explained that one of the cases was introduced in a court other than the one hearing today's motions. The court refused to hear arguments on the motion to consider consolidation.

The panel of judges heard oral arguments on a second motion requesting the court to delay its hearing on legality of Act 35 of 1957, which gives the Sovereignty Commission its powers.

But R. J. Blair of Shreveport, La., division superintendent, said wrecking operations by units brought from Shreveport, and Heaven, Okla., would take most of today.

The derailment was believed caused when a semi-trailer truck lashed to a flatcar "piggy-back" style, shifted suddenly as the train rounded a curve. Within seconds, boxcars and tankers were strewn crazily along half-mile of the right-of-way.

Tracks were reported ripped up for about a half-mile.

The freight, No. 77, was bound from Kansas City to New Orleans. Blair said KCS traffic would be re-routed over tracks of the St. Louis and San Francisco railroad by way of Ashdown, Hugo, Okla., and Poteau, Okla., pending restoration of the tracks.

The accident occurred in a heavily forested, rather inaccessible section of north Sevier county.

Senator Slaps Back
Reuther charged that his old foe, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) was "a political hypocrite and a moral coward." He accused the GOP senator of blocking his early appearance before the committee and of "stooging" for the Kohler firm.

Goldwater fired back that the union leader's charge was "typical of the lies that Reuther has been telling — I've called him a liar so many times I'm getting sick of it." He said Reuther "will be before the committee, and I think more than once."

In the committee itself, Sen. Pat McNamara (D-Mich.) charged "Republicans have taken over and are running the show." McNamara referred to the procedure forced by GOP committee members which kept Reuther from being the leadoff witness Wednesday.

But Sen. Irving M. Ives (R-N.Y.) said the procedure gave Reuther a great favor.

Ives' statement reflected the fact that Reuther managed to get his case to the public Wednesday without going before the committee. In a statement Reuther first blamed the Kohler Co. for forcing, prolonging and provoking the strike.

Witnesses Support Kohler
Then at lunch hour, he moved into the committee's own hearing room—the marble-pillared Senate Caucus Room—to blast Goldwater. Reuther immediately protested Reuther's use of the room.

In a statement of its own the company charged the union with 800 acts of "violence and vandalism" and said the union's self-proclaimed goal has been to wreck the company.

The company was supported by two of the day's opening witnesses who described picket-line strikes.

42 Cars of KCS Freight Jump Tracks

DE QUEEN (UP) — Kansas City

Southern railway officials said it might take until tonight to clear wreckage from tracks following derailment of 42 cars of a 101-car freight train six miles north of here Wednesday.

No injuries were reported and there was no fire, probably owned to the fact that the half-dozen oil tankers which derailed were empty.

But R. J. Blair of Shreveport, La., division superintendent, said wrecking operations by units brought from Shreveport, and Heaven, Okla., would take most of today.

Forced to Join Union, Worker Tells Probers

By JOHN A. GOLDSMITH

United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (UP) — Herman Miesfeld, a Kohler Co. employee, testified today that he joined the United Auto Workers Union after strikers told him to "sign up or get beat up."

But Joseph Rauh, the union's attorney, challenged the witness, and said the Senate Rackets Committee should consider bringing perjury charges against him.

Rauh said Miesfeld never mentioned being threatened when he described the incident previously to the National Labor Relations Board and the Wisconsin Employee Relations Board.

Miesfeld was today's first witness as the committee, once strictly bipartisan, resumed its investigation of the marathon Kohler strike in an atmosphere of political bickering.

Identifies Those Present
Miesfeld told how he and four other non-union employees of the Sheboygan, Wis., plant were captured by a picket patrol when they sneaked across a field to report to work through a back entrance.

He said he was taken to a "strike kitchen" and told to "sign up with the union or get beat up."

"So I signed up," he said.

After that, he said, the strikers gave him coffee and doughnuts and took him home.

Miesfeld identified Emil Mazey, UAW secretary-treasurer, and Donald Rand, and Robert Burkhardt, international representatives of the union, as among those present in the kitchen.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The once strictly bipartisan Senate Rackets Committee today bucked a gale of political cross-charges to dig deeper into the long United Auto Workers strike against the Kohler Co.

Committee Counsel Robert T. Kennedy said the investigators would seek more evidence on an arsenal of shotguns and teargas reported to have been assembled in the company's Kohler, Wis., plant a year before the strike began almost four years ago.

The committee called former Sheboygan, Wis., County Sheriff Theodore J. Mowch, Kohler Police Chief Waldemar Capelle and several other witnesses for more testimony on violence during the strike.

At the same time the Senate Rules Committee at the request of Senate Republican Leader William F. Knowland was trying to determine how UAW President Walter P. Reuther happened to use the Senate caucus room for a meeting with newsmen.

Reuther charged that his old foe, Sen. Barry Goldwater (R-Ariz.) was "a political hypocrite and a moral coward." He accused the GOP senator of blocking his early appearance before the committee and of "stooging" for the Kohler firm.

money influenced his official decisions. Mack is under pressure to quit and under investigation by the FBI following accusations by congressmen that he violated the Federal Communications Act. The investigating House subcommittee on legislative oversight has heard testimony that he took $2,630 from an attorney friend as a "pay-off" in a Miami television channel award. Mack has denied the money swayed his vote in the case. He said he was "ready" to testify although his attorney was out of town today on another case.

"Secrecy" Denounced
Two senators called on President Eisenhower to make public any "secret" understanding with Vice President Richard M. Nixon.

The President told a news conference Wednesday he has a "clear understanding" with Nixon on what should be done if he finds he can't carry on with his duties.

Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) said the question of presidential disability is "not a fit subject for a secret understanding." Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) said there was no reason he could see for keeping any such understanding a secret.

Reps. A. L. Miller (R-Neb.) and Phil Weaver (R-Neb.) had an appointment with President Eisenhower today to present their case against Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson.

Miller is leader of a group of 30 GOP Midwest congressmen who are trying to get rid of Benson as a political liability in the Farm Belt.

At his news conference Eisenhower lauded his farm chief and rejected any idea of firing him.

The Senate was expected to pass a 747-million-dollar postal rate increase bill including a five-cent stamp for out-of-town letters. Before giving its approval, it was ready to tack on a 7 1/2 per cent pay hike for a half-million Post Office employees.

Victory for Eisenhower
The upper chamber late Wednesday gave President Eisenhower a victory by knocking out the five-cent stamp feature.

Warehouse Damaged During Windstorm

FORT SMITH (UPI)—Two feed warehouses and two homes were damaged in a storm some persons thought was a tornado at Moffett, Okla., just across the Arkansas river late Wednesday. Alexander L. Kelley, manager of the Farmers' Alfalfa Milling Co., said two of his warehouses suffered damage. The roof of one was torn off and lifted into the air. Kelley said a foreman of one of the warehouses reported sighting a funnel.

Two women reported damage to their homes. Mrs. James Corley, 22, said a wind slammed through her front window. Her home is near one of the warehouses.

Mrs. Clarence Ferguson, 52, was watching television in her home about a quarter-mile from the Kelley house. She said five windows were blown out.

At the Fort Smith Horse and Mule Barns, a horse and shelland money sale was temporarily plunged into darkness when power was temporarily cut off. Many of the 1,000 buyers from many parts of the nation left. Power was restored a short while later.

Girls They've Fled

Dear Dorothy Dix: We're two girls of 18, ready and anxious to get married. We're in love with two boys who claim they are in love with us. But other girls attract their attention too much, and they have never proposed to us. How can we bring them to heel? Act indifferent and go out with other boys, or haunt them?

Dear G. & H.: Quite evidently the boys aren't ready to get married. My guess would be they're too young; they have educations to finish and they are in no financial position to embrace matrimony. And, possibly, your eagerness is chasing them off. At least they have the honor and common sense to give you the score. Why not copy their intelligence? Go with other boys, have a good time and forget thoughts of matrimony for awhile. Eighteen is too young to marry, anyway.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been corresponding with a boy I've never met. He sent me a nice gift for my birthday, and I sent him a sweater for his. Since then I haven't heard from him. Should I write or wait?

Dear Lois: Write to ask if he has received the sweater. If he doesn't continue the correspondence from that point, let it drop.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I have been playing cards in a foursome and one of the girls has been making such rude remarks that the rest of us want to break up the game. However, she's been a good friend for a long time and we hate to hurt her.

Dear Mrs. Y. P.: After all, you are playing for relaxation and entertainment; if one person makes the game a thing of misery, she deserves to lose friends. Ask why she acts the way she does. Perhaps she's feeling ill or worried. Help her if you can but don't keep enduring for nothing.

Dear Dorothy Dix: I'm a middle aged, widow living with my daughter. She and her husband are very good to me, take me places and treat me well, but they don't want me to have friends of my own age, or to marry again. I would like to have friends and go out with a man occasionally.

Dear Della: In case you don't want to hurt daughter by open rebellion, show her this answer. You should have friends among your contemporaries. As for romance, here's to it!

Send your problem to Dorothy Dix. Be sure to enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope, and address her care of this newspaper.

Churchill Has Recovered From Illness

ROBINSON-CAP. MARTIN, Bridge (UP)—Sir Winston Churchill has made such fine recovery from an attack of pneumonia and pleurisy that his doctors said today they do not plan to issue any further medical bulletins on the state of his health.

Today's communique said an X-ray examination of the 34-year-old British statesman's lungs Tuesday showed "no abnormal shadows and there is no fluid in the pleural cavity."

His condition, it added, is "very satisfactory."

"It is not out of intention to issue further bulletins," the statement concluded.

The document as signed by Churchill's physicians, Lord Moran and Dr. David M. Roberts, Churchill's private secretary, Anthony Montague Browne, asked if the former British prime minister had gotten out of bed yet replied with a smile: "Well, you can see from this communique that things are going pretty well."

He was asked if Sir Winston still planned to go to the United States for his scheduled visit with President Eisenhower in April.

"Nothing has been changed," he said.

The secretary's failure to be more definite was believed due to the fact that Sir Winston's doctors have not yet dared to tell their patient that it would be medically unwise for him to undertake such a long trip.

It was considered unlikely, however, any source close to the Churchill household, that the old warrior would make the journey although at the moment he has every intention of trying to do so.

Montague Browne said he could give no date for Sir Winston's return to London. He was scheduled to leave this week, before he became ill. Now he is expected to remain here most of March.

Benjamin Franklin said: "The heart of the fool is in his mouth, but the wise man is in his heart."

Golden Gloves Finals at Chicago

CHICAGO (UP)—The stage was set today for the March 5 finals of the 31st annual Golden Gloves tournament of champions which will bring together 22 of the top amateur fighters in the West and Midwest.

The 22 punched their way into the semifinals and finals Wednesday night. They represent the cream of an original field of 206 boxers who came here from 20 states.

Wednesday night's bouts completed the quarter-finals in all eight weight classes and the semi-finals in the 135, 147, 160, 175 and heavyweight divisions. The 112, 118 and 126 pound classes will fight semifinal and final matches March 5.

Chicago maintained its lead in team standings with 17 points. Toledo was next with 14 points and representatives in the 112, 147 and 160 classes. Fort Worth was third with 13 points and boxers in the 112, 118 and 126 pound divisions.

The heavyweight division came up with the quickest knockouts as Leroy Bogaer, Minneapolis, stopped Artell Brockrick, Kenosha, Wis., in 14 seconds of the first round, and Don Hodges, Wichita, stopped Russ Trust, Omaha, in 56 seconds of the first round.

Hodges then won a close decision over Bogaer, who was only the third fighter in Hodges' 14 bouts to last the three rounds.

Billy Collins, Nashville, eliminated Billy Briggs, Kenosha, the 1957 lightweight champion.

The team standings: Chicago 17; Toledo 14; Fort Worth 13; Kansas City and Minneapolis 10 each; Lafayette, La., 9; Louisville, Detroit, Roswell, N.M., and Kenosha 8 each; Omaha, Los Angeles, Tulsa, Billings, Mont., Nashville, Tenn., Zanesville, Ohio, and Wichita 7 each; Indianapolis and Memphis 6 each; Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Denver 5 each; Grand Rapids, Mich., 4; Paducah, Ky., Rockford, Ill., Sioux Falls, S.D., Streator, Ill., and Fond du Lac, Wis., 3 each; Des Moines, and Springfield, Ill., 2 each; and Canton, Ill., and Muncie, Ind., 1 each.

$2 Billion for Basic Highway Plan Okayed

WASHINGTON (UP)—The House Public Works Committee tentatively approved legislation Tuesday authorizing $2,035,000,000 for the basic federal highway program for fiscal years 1960 and 1961.

The bill includes $1,825,000,000 in federal aid for primary and secondary roads and urban extension. These funds are matched equally by the states.

Also included is 205 million dollars for forest roads and trails, national park roads, federal parkways and roads on Indian and public lands.

The bill does not contain money for the multi-billion interstate highway system, financed separately from a trust fund.

A final vote on the bill was postponed until March 6 because of the illness of Rep. J. Harry McGregor (R-Ohio). McGregor is expected to be present on that date.

PUZZLING CASE

ATLANTA (UP)—Police took a special interest today in trying to solve the theft of a hand truck. It was taken from the basement of police headquarters.

Hot Springs Announces Fishing Derby

HOT SPRINGS (UPI) — Preparations are being made already for the 10th annual Amateur Open Fishing Derby and the Second Annual National Professional Fresh Water Fishing Championship, although they don't start until April.

Winners in the two events will get prizes totaling $12,500.

The amateur derby will run from April 10-19. The professional derby will be April 22-25.

Both contests will be conducted on Hot Springs' three lakes, Cucchita, Hamilton and Catherine.

The amateur derby is open to both visitors and residents but the professional championship — the only one of its kind in the nation — is designed to bring the nation's top sports fishermen as well as sports writers, lecturers, and those whose business it is to promote sport fishing to the spa.

The $10,000 in prizes to be awarded in the amateur open contest will be split, with $5,000 going to persons from out-of-state and the other $5,000 awarded to Arkansas entrants. Contest officials explained this move was so that local contestants would not be in competition with entrants unfamiliar with the lakes.

Four species of game fish are eligible for competition in the derby, all of which will share equally in prizes. They are Crappie, White bass, Largemouth and smallmouth bass.

Three prizes of $50, $30 and $20 will be awarded daily for the largest fish caught in each division.

Duplicate prizes will be awarded to local and out-of-state winners, making a total of $800 in prizes each day, or a total of $8,000 for the full 10-day period of the derby.

Instead of a contest-ending Derby Day, grand prizes totaling $2,000 will be awarded to contestants bringing in the biggest fish in each division.

The $2,000 will be broken down to give the "grand champion" in each of the four divisions a $250 prize, with duplicate awards to be presented to local and visiting champions.

Besides an Arkansas Fishing license, each contestant will be required to purchase a participation ticket in the events. Local contestants must buy their derby ticket in advance, but visitors may purchase their ticket any time during the derby. Derby fees will cost $2.50.

The National Professional fishing championship is decided on a point basis, with each fish the entrant lands to count a certain number of points, with size and species making the difference.

Amateur prizes will consist of merchandise ranging from household appliances to outboard motors, all to be provided by Hot Springs merchants.

Each of the last two years, the derby — which started in 1935 — has attracted about 2,500 persons.
After an on-again-off-again sponsorship, the derby was resumed on a permanent yearly basis in 1949 when the lakes were opened for year around fishing. The Chamber of Commerce took over full sponsorship in 1952.

Johnny Dieckman of Costa Mesa, Calif., won last year's title of National professional Fresh Water Fishing Champion last year over 24 other contestants.

FIGHT ALCOHOLISM
WARSAW, Poland (UPI) — The Warsaw Peoples' Council made another attempt to reduce drinking today by banning the sale of liquor in restaurants, railway stations and other public places.

A new order also cut the number of liquor stores to 20 per cent of shops and reduced the 1952 session of vodka for Warsaw. The city followed reports that the number of Poles under medical treatment for alcoholism is steadily rising.

Jap Golfer Gets Chance in America

TODAY'S SPORT PARADE
(Reg. U.S. at Off.)
By OSCAR FRALEY

United Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (UPI) — The Japanese sandman is going to get a chance to prove that he wasn't a one-shot sleeper.

That's little Pete Nakamura, who beat the world's best golfers, including Sam Snead and Jimmy Demaret, in the International Trophy matches at Tokyo last October. Completing a grand slam, he and his partner, Koshi Ono, also copped the two-man Canada Cup trophy.

Now they are coming here to compete in the Masters Tournament at Augusta, April 3-6, and there is a possibility that they will play a Miami exhibition against Snead and Demaret.

Snead would probably walk to Miami from Boca Raton and De-maret conceivably would trudge all the way from Houston for another crack at the two Japanese.

Because Sam and Jimmy were "all shook up" the day they played the two Japanese head and head.

Won Hands Down
Nakamura shot a three under par 68 that day and Ono a 70, while Demaret had an even par
71. Snead bounced to a 74.

When the tournament was over, Nakamura had walked off with the individual low with a 10-under-par 274 against Snead's second place 281. The Japanese won the team title with an 11-under-par 587 against the Snead-Demaret second place total of 506.

Demaret had a bemused look on his face after that round with the two Japanese players.

"They don't hit the ball out of their own shadow," he grinned.
"But how they can score."

Snead nodded.

"Every time I looked at 'em," he said, "all I see is arms and elbows as they bent over to pick their ball out of the cup."

The two Japanese players were red-hot. For example, on one hole Snead stretch the tiny, squat Nakamura was in five traps — and finished the nine holes five under par. He holed out from three traps and one-putted after exploiting from the other two.

Practiced a Lot
They had practiced assiduously for that tournament, even though they were given little chances in pre-tournament figures among the best pairs from 30 other nations.

The ever-smiling Nakamura had worked so long that he had a callous the size of a walnut on the palm of his left hand from the constant rubbing of the end of the club shaft. Ono, a lanky Manichurian who is a naturalized Japanese, also had practiced endlessly.

The Japanese players will be at a disadvantage of sorts here because they must use the larger American ball instead of the smaller British ball which is used in Japan. In international matches, players may use either ball. But in tournaments and exhibitions here they would use the large ball.

"It wouldn't matter to me which ball they used," Snead said when advised they were coming to the United States. "They won fairly and square in Tokyo — but I'd sure like another crack at them if a game could be arranged."

Neither Snead or Demaret has forgotten that seven-stroke shag-gled look they took from the two Japanese in

LEAD WITH YOUR LEFT

THE STORY: Believing that former Policemen Ed Owens and Al Wales were murdered because of something that occurred while they were on the force, Detective Dave Wintino is trying to find a lead that will point out the killer. Both figured in a case in which a gangster was murdered and the killer, a bootlegger named Sal Kahn was sent to the chair.

CHAPTER XVI

I made some notes in my book, decided against pie, and left. The other address was the garage where Sal ran his still, where he killed Boots Brenner in 1930. This was in another part of Brooklyn and traveling in Brooklyn is like going over a giant obstacle course. After I'd paid three car fares I was getting low on money. I'd been so sure at Mary I hadn't asked her for a couple of bills—so I flashed my badge in the last bus. The baldy driver asked, "Young to be a cop, aren't you?"

"So the badge, don't you?" I said, walking by him and sitting down. "See the badge, don't you?" I blarneyed, ball-head stops the bus to call over a beefy beat patrolman. I was embarrassed and stepped off the bus with him rather than cause more of a scene. I showed him my badge and Police Benevolent Association card, pulled back my shirt so he could see my gun. He said, "I don't want to make no mistakes, one way or the other. First off you hand me your gun, butt first, all nice and easy."

I handed this big bum my gun, telling him, "Be careful it doesn't go off and you shoot yourself." I gave him a dime and told him to save time by using a regular phone to call my precinct. When he finally got Reed on the phone and described me they must have made some crack because the big dum ox laughed and said, "Looked more like he'd be packing a zip gun than a badge. Thank you, Lieutenant." I knew the ribbing I was in for when I reported back to duty.

The cop gave me my gun, said he was sorry but I must have stood on my toes when I took the physical.

"That's right. And I borrowed my old man's beard too. Look, maybe you can do me some good for a change. Know how to get to this address?"

"You aren't three blocks from it. Dye plant. On my beat when I'm working radio car. Good people at Christmas."

"Dye plant? Was it ever a garage?"

"I been in this precinct for five years and it's been a dye plant all that time. Tell you, Detective—seems to me I heard a kid was hurt playing in the old building years ago and they had to put a watchman in. An old duffer in the neighborhood. Still works as a night watchman for the dye company." Old George Davis. Anything important?

"Now, checking a reference. Where's this Davis fellow?" "When you get to the dye plant keep going a block. You'll see an old bro-in house that looks like a good wind would carry it away. Can't miss it; some side of the street."

The dye plant was one of these one-story efficient-looking buildings, all spick and span. It had glass-brick windows and air conditioning, looked like a big outfit. The old brown house sat back from the sidewalk with a white-washed flagpole in the center of a small lawn just starting to look green. I followed a broken walk around the house to a large garden. A plump old gent with a fat nose and a shabby derby on a lot of gray hair was digging up the ground with a pitchfork.

"Mr. Davis?"

He nodded.

I showed my badge as I told him, "Detective Dave Wintino, 201st Squad. And I've had about all the cracks I want about my looking young. If you can spare a few minutes I'd like to chat with you."

"I got plenty of time." His voice had a kind of whine you find in lots of big, old men. "It's a fact you look young." He leaned ground with a pitchfork.

"You remember when the dye plant was an empty garage and a vacant lot?"

"Sure do. I was always for raising tomatoes in that lot but between the kids playing ball and the tocky soil I got no place."

"Were you around when they had the shooting in the lot?"

He patted his crazy hat. "Sure was. I wasn't at the actual shooting or when they found the body, but I was there when the cops were. Now that was way back in—"

"Nineteen-thirty."

He nodded. "Yep and times was real bad. Garage had been standing empty maybe two, three years when one day I seen two men working on it. It turned out they was bootlegging. Sometimes when I'd be working my tomatoes in the lot on Sundays, or late in the afternoons, I'd see them. The one they killed in prison and the other."

"The other—what did he look like?"

Davis relit his pipe before he said, "One thing I got to hand you cop fellows, you never give me like I told that other detective it's been a—"

"What other detective?"

"All one that was handling the case. Even after they give the fellow the chair and the garage was just an old building with busted windows, this dick would still come around and look through the building. Although there wasn't anything to see that

Sovereignty Group Meets With Faubus

LITTLE ROCK (UPI)—The Arkansas Sovereignty Commission, headed by Gov. Orval Faubus, met for the second time in its existence Tuesday.

After an executive session, the governor said Richard B. McCulloch, Jr., of Forrest City, was hired to fill a dual position of commission executive secretary and counsel. The secretary job will pay $4,800 a year.

McCulloch told the commission any delay in trial of suits contesting its authority is the fault of the Negro lawyers who started the actions. He said the attempt of the Little Rock school board to delay integration at Central High School raises the question on how long a federal district court keeps jurisdiction on an integration order.

Attorney General Bruce Bennett backed up the lawyer's statement the commission is ready to try the federal and state cases concurrently.

testing its powers.

"We are ready whenever they are," he said.

State Rep. Ulen F. Walther of Pulaski county asked the commission to do something to convince the federal courts it is acting in good faith.

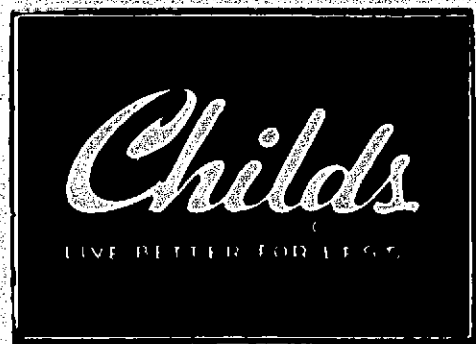

"Sometimes these Yankee judges take strange actions and strange courses," he said, then asked that "Yankee" be changed to "federal."

State Sen. Charles Smith of West Memphis said the majority of the commission decided the group should not take any action until after the elay suits are settled.
